Congressman Tener recommended the appointment of J. E. McCardle several weeks ago, and the matter has been in the hands of the Senate General ever since.

North Charleroi Man Has Scheme for New Method of Driving Machines.

RECEIVED PATENT LATELY

Elwood H. Stewart, formerly of the United States Engineer Service at Lock No. 4, has received a patent from Washington, D. C., for a compressed air apparatus. This apparatus can be used in the place of steam or gasoline for motive power. Mr. Stewart has worked on the device for twelve years, and since its completion has received several flattering offers for an interest in the patent.

The motor does away with the use of steam, coal and water and is run simply with compressed air. It bids fair to revolutionize the motive power of automobiles.

There was nothing to it but Charleroi in the first game of the double header yesterday afternoon, the strictly high class playing of the Cherub aggregation behind Pitcher Michaels keeping the game from going to the Imps. Not an error was made by either team, and considering everything, the contest was just about as pretty a one, looking at it from the Charleroi standpoint, as has been played here this season.

Heise Elliott had recovered his batting eye and the superior form he showed made the Imps blink. In the fourth inning he started things by leading off with a single, stole second and scored when Knicey hit for three bases. The latter scored on Smith's single.

Three runs were added in the seventh. Smith was given a base, Harrell singled and Urban doubled, scoring both. Nally singled, Barnes doubled and Murphy hit for one base, sending Nally in.

MONONGAHELA MAN SUES FOR DAMAGES

Horse Fell in Hot Ashes and Was Burned Until it

Useless

Alex D. Ross of Monongahela through his attorney, Vernon Hazzard, has entered suit against the Peoples Coal company to recover damages in the sum of $100 for damages to a horse, alleged to have been due to the negligence and carelessness of the company.

The plaintiff states that on April 19, 1909, while driving a horse hitched to a wagon and proceeding along the public road in Forward township, Allegheny county, near the engine room of the Peoples Coal company, the horse ran into a pile of red hot ashes which had been placed in the roadway by the defendant company, and the animal was badly burned about the hind legs, and rendered unfit for service for a long space of time.

Charleroi's Chance.

By giving John H. Moffitt a practically unanimous vote at the primary election today the electors of Charleroi will not only support a capable and worthy candidate for recorder and honor a progressive and upright citizen of their town, but they will also perform a signal service to the community. The nomination and election of Mr. Moffitt would give Charleroi and the river district representation among the court house officials, a distinction which has thus far been denied the second town of importance in the county, and, except at rare intervals, the entire river district.

The Mail urges all Republican voters to support Mr. Moffitt because he is a home candidate. We all know that he is capable to the highest degree, kind-hearted, loyal to his friends, just and generous. By his election Charleroi would have no more claims for his consideration in office than any other part of the county, but his presence there would insure us a fair deal and justice in other affairs which we have not always gotten. In other words, with Mr. Moffitt in office at the county seat, Charleroi will have a good friend there who will always represent the Magic City equitably.

bly and see that he has a fair deal. So far as the other Republicans candidates for recorder are concerned, the campaign has been an honorable one, and has been devoid of personalities and mud-slinging. All of them are capable, honorable and upright men, and no doubt stand in their own homes as Mr. Moffitt stands in his. It is a well defined axiom in party contests that "All things being equal, support your home candidate." In Mr. Moffitt's case things are more than equal.

Wanted—Mourners.
Prompted by the reckless driving of automobiles along the crowded streets of that town the Monessen News, under the heading of "Wanted—Mourners," prints the following in its issue of yesterday:

"Wanted—Mourners, for first victims of automobile accident caused by fast running and speeding of automobiles on the streets. No speed limit observed. Everybody expected to keep out of the way."

May be for a child or for children, not realizing the danger they are in; apparently no law or ordinance to interfere. Schoonmaker avenue mother declares she will shoot the chauffeur who runs over her child. Certain to have funerals. Wanted—Mourners."

The startling feature of this ghastly satire is that it has the terrible ring of truth. The desire to score carries with it a general disregard for human life. At least one court in this country has decreed that such a searcher is guilty of murder in the first degree, on the grounds of general premeditation instead of individual premeditation. This should be embodied in the criminal code of every State in the Union. The industrial hazards are too great to permit reckless pleasure seekers to exact an additional tribute.

A New Richmond.

The announcement of Charles A. Bentley of Monongahela that he will be a Republican candidate for the nomination for State Senator for the Washington-Greene district brings a new Richmond into the field. It was known that County Chairman A. H. Anderson would in all likelihood be a candidate, and that John W. Hallam of Washington has aspirations in that direction. Rumors were current that Mr. Bentley had an eye towards the Senatorial toga, but they were not confirmed until today. This announcement, which is made in a Pittsburgh paper, insures the prettiest kind of a fight in Washington county a year hence.

While the nomination is generally conceded to go to Washington by reason of the larger vote in this county, a Green county candidate might walk off with the plum by reason of a contest in the larger division of the district. The possibility of such a contingency should be considered before a general fight is inaugurated in Washington.

Color Blindness.

Forty men and four women in a thousand are either wholly unable to perceive certain colors or can recognize them only with difficulty. All attempts to overcome color blindness by educating the color sense have failed. There are three theories of color vision, all of which are based on the workings of the sensitive fibrils of the inner eye.

Odessa's Working Days.

The legal laboring day at Odessa, Russia, is twelve hours, with two hours for rest. Workers less than seventeen years old must go to school for three hours daily. Christians are not required to work Sundays or feast days nor Jews and Mohammedans on their holidays. Those who have to work on Sundays have the next day for rest.

Knew Her Weakness.

Master—John! Servant—Yes, sir. Master—Be sure you tell me when it is 4 o'clock. Servant—Yes, sir. Master—Don't forget it. I promised to meet my wife at 2:30, and she'll be provoked if I'm not there when she arrives.—London Answers.

The motto of chivalry is also the motto of wisdom—to serve all, but love only one.—Balzac.

Knew What He Wanted.

"Gimme a dime's worth o' dried beef an' sum crackers," said Uncle Josh to the young lady in charge of the ribbon counter in a downtown store.

"You have evidently made a mistake in the place," she smilingly replied. "This is a dry goods store."

"Wasn't now, I reckon I know'd that 'gosh," said the old man, "an' et dried beef an' crackers hain't dry goods then I'd like to know what in tarnation you'd call 'em?"—Chicago News.

COMBINATION OF MYSTERY AND ROMANCE

Grieving Parents of Young Man Cannot Learn His Whereabouts.

MARRIED ON WEDNESDAY

Albert Depasse, the 19 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Depasse, and Miss Julia Bijou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bijou of Meadow avenue, disappeared last Wednesday from their homes in Charleroi and were married supposedly in Youngstown. Romance and mystery are combined in the strange case.

On Tuesday young Depasse, who is a printer, working for the Monessen Independent, asked to be off for a day, stating that he would like to go to Pittsburg. The next morning he left home, his parents thought, for work, but he did not go to the Independent office. The next day he did not show up, and in fact has been missing ever since. His parents, much grieved over his disappearance, have been searching for him, and did not know until this afternoon that he has been married. Whether he is in Charleroi or not is not known. The bride, however, is here and at the home of her parents, it is stated.

When interviewed today Mr. Depasse, the father of the young man said that he did not know why his son should go away without notifying him, and said that he had not really any objections to the marriage with Miss Bijou. It is stated that it was the intention of the couple to be married this summer, but they decided to hasten the affair.

Rev. George W. Engler, pastor of the Bethany Lutheran church of Pittsburgh, made the address at the after-mat meeting at the new Lutheran church last evening. His theme was "Enthusiasm," and he treated it in a most pleasant manner.

Dr. Engler was listened to by many, the church being well filled.

MEXICAN JACALS.

Primitive Huts in the Villages of the Native Indians.
The Mexican Indian huts in the villages and upon the ranches of the lower Rio Grande border region of Texas have a style of architecture and construction that is distinctly their own. This type of primitive building is rapidly passing out of existence. At many places on the border families of Mexicans have abandoned their jacals and moved into more pretentious homes.

No money outlay is necessary in erecting the old style picturesque structures; neither is a knowledge of carpentry needed. A double row of upright poles firmly set or driven into the ground forms the framework for the walls. Between these two rows of poles are placed other poles or sticks of shorter length, forming a thick and compact wall. At each of the four corners of the building posts are set, reaching to a height of about eight feet. Roughly hewn stringers are laid from one post to another, and to these stringers are tied other poles that form the framework of the walls. The strong fiber from the maguey plant or strips of buckskin are used to tie the poles into position. The rafters are tied to the ridgepole and the stringers in the same manner. At one end of the building is built the opening through which the smoke of the inside fire may ascend. Stoves are unknown among these Mexicans, and the cooking is all done upon the ground.—Kansas City Star.

She Was Slow.

The shop assistant had shown and reshown the toys to the undecided shopper.

Rabbits, monkeys, jacks-in-the-box, jumping jacks, trains, velocipedes—everything had been displayed, manipulated, operated and explained to the shopper, but still she could not make up her mind.

"I wanted to get something suitable for my little nephew," she reiterated for the thousandth time.

"Yes, madam," responded the weary assistant. "You told me that when you came in, but I think your nephew has outgrown all these toys while you have been at this counter."—London Opinion.

His Translation.

A dignified elder of an Australian church was presiding at a charitable concert. A Miss Brown was to sing "Ora Pro Nobis," but at the last moment she changed her mind, and a note was passed to the chairman intimating that she would give "The Song That Reached My Heart."

He therefore made the following announcement: "Miss Brown will now sing 'Ora Pro Nobis,' which, being translated, means 'The Song That Reached My Heart.'—London Chronicle.

FOR RECORDER

JOHN H. MOFFITT
CHARLEROI, PA.

IN ANNOUNCING my candidacy for the nomination of County Recorder, I do so by stating that I have never been favored, either with an elective or an appointed position in this county, ~~and~~, have never given up sport, nor encouraged in any campaign to any other than candidates of the Republican Party, from whose hosts I am now seeking the honorable position above named. I have long been a resident of the Monongahela Valley, and for more than one hundred and twenty years my ancestors have been taxpayers and residents of that section of the county.

While no new issues or questions are likely to be advanced in the coming campaign other than fitness and capability of the applicants, I wish to say that I stand as I have always done, for the broad principles of Republicanism and will always be ready to champion every policy of reform involving a higher standard of politics.

On one or two occasions I have permitted my name to be withdrawn from political contests for the sake of party harmony, but after being active in aiding others for almost a score of years in reaching the goal of their ambitions, I am now presenting myself for the first time as a candidate for the office of County Recorder, for which primaries will be held June 5th, 1909.

Joy of a Yawn.

When life seems more than usually insipid—and such moments do come to even the most hopeful of us—there is a sudden pleasant sympathy in the yawn of the terrier on the rug before the fire. "Ah, you, too, find things a little boring, old fellow!" we say to ourselves. A dog yawns nobly, making no attempt at disguising it with politely uplifted paw. All animals seem to enjoy a yawn except man. We once saw, the late lamented hippopotamus at the zoo lift himself slowly from his murky pond and yawn. It was a great spectacle, tremendous, Bohemian. The concentrated boredom of the whole creation seemed expressed in that gigantic gasp. For a few fascinated moments pond, shed, railings, people, all seemed merged in one colossal mouth. It was wonderful. Oh, we thought as we came away, to be able to yawn like that when life becomes too silly!—Pall Mall Gazette.

BIRDS AS SCOUTS.

A Gypsy's Warning Before the Battle of Sadowa.

During the night, July 23, before the battle of Sadowa, a division commanded by the archduke, retreating before the Prussian army, had bivouacked near a town in Bohemia facing north. At midnight the archduke, when resting in a peasant's cottage, was awakened by the arrival of a gypsy, who insisted on seeing him personally, having come to report the advance of the enemy.

The archduke, who spoke Romany fluently, asked: "How do you know? Our outposts have not reported any movement?"

"That your bigness is because the enemy is still some way off."

"Then how do you know?"

The gypsy, pointing to the dark sky lighted by the moon, observed. "You see those birds flying over the woods from north to south?"

"Yes. What of them?"

"These birds do not fly by night unless disturbed, and the direction of their flight indicates that the enemy is coming this way."

The archduke put his division under arms and re-enforced the outposts, which in two hours' time were heavily attacked.—Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood in London Saturday Gazette.

No Hurry.

He—Then you have decided to accept the proffer of my heart and hand? She—Yes, dear. He—Thanks! You have made me the happiest of men, but we must have some regard for the old maxim and not be married in haste. She—Don't worry about that. I am perfectly willing to wait till next week.—Los Angeles Times.

Maple Drop Cakes.

Two cups of maple syrup, one-half cup of cream or milk, two eggs, one-half cup of melted butter, three teaspoonsfuls of baking powder, flour enough to make a soft batter. Bake in gem pans. Good housekeeping.

MAKING A TUNNEL.

The Way Railroad Engineers Bore Through a Mountain.

Sometimes the construction engineer brings his new line face to face with a mountain too steep to be easily mounted, and then he prepares to pierce it. Tunnels are not pleasant to ride through. They are, moreover, fearfully expensive to construct, and they necessitate a double inspection. But—and the "but" in this case is a very large one—they reduce grades and distances in wholesale fashion, and so in a mountainous country the engineer must be prepared to drive tunnels and the folk who come after him to operate them. The tunnel job is apt to be a separate part of the work. It calls for its own expert talent.

If the tunnel is more than a half or three-quarters of a mile long it will probably be dug from a shaft or shafts as well as from its portals. In this way the work will not only be greatly hastened, but the shafts will continue in use after it is completed as vents for the discharge of engine smoke and gases from the tube.

The ordinary course of such work is by the use of cutting shields proceeding simultaneously from the portals and from the footings of the shafts. These shields are to be likened to steel rings of a circumference only slightly greater than that of the finished tunnel. Men working on different levels of this shield with pick and with drill and dynamite constantly clear a path for it, whereupon it is pressed forward. Tracks follow the cutting shield, and more locomotives, steam or electric, are used in removing the material. The use of electricity keeps the tunnel quite clear of gases and makes the safest light for the workers.

In rare cases the rock through which the tunnel is bored is strong enough to support itself. But in most cases the engineers prefer to line the bore with brick, as a rule, and this lining is set in place right in the path of the cutting shield. After long weeks and perhaps months of work the time comes when the different bores meet and the tunnel is a single underground tube from portal to portal.

An African and a Boa Constrictor.

At M'Geta, German East Africa, a native who, like all those belonging to the tribe of the Waluguru, regarded snake flesh as an especial delicacy found a huge boa constrictor lying in the middle of a field. He confided the discovery to one or two others and arranged with them to kill it during the hours of darkness, so that they might enjoy the delicacy together. Toward nightfall the man, armed with a stick, attacked the huge serpent. The boa constrictor, aroused from its apparent torpor, suddenly seized the unhappy negro and slowly crushed him to pulp and then gradually swallowed him.

Tactless.

"When Clibber gets arguing he loses all tact."

"As for instance?"

"Why, last night he told an opponent who is lame that he hadn't a leg to stand on, another who squints that he was sorry he couldn't see things as he did, and a man who stammered he urged not to hesitate in expressing an opinion."—Stray Stories.

WALL STREET WAYS.

Methods of a Brilliant Operator Many Years Ago.

One of the most brilliant operators of Wall street in the early nineties, the last century was Walter William Morse, though he was by comparison with some of the gray-haired veterans only a mere boy, being thirty years of age. The public confidence he enjoyed made it possible for him to realize profits in any stock.

Such was the influence his judgement would carry that after he had accumulated stock at his price, he could tell his daily callers that the stock was due to go up, and immediately there would be enough professional and public buying of the stock to send it up, thus enabling Morse to unload at a profit.

An example of Morse's popularity was illustrated in a scene accompanying the opening of subscriptions for stock in a coal mining company organized by him. The day the subscription book was opened people flocked to the office and fought with each other in their efforts to enter and get their names recorded. One man who had subscribed for a large amount of this stock, after getting away from the crowd, came back and, walking up to Mr. Morse, said, "I say, Mr. Morse, was that gold or coal stock I subscribed for?"—Moody's Magazine.

He Got None.

"What's a pun, father?"

"A pun, my son, is a play upon words. There are three kinds of puns—good ones, which you laugh at; indifferent ones, which you take no notice of, and bad ones, which make you throw something at the punster."

"Can you make a pun, father?"

"Of course, my son! Now, you're thinking about your supper, aren't you?"

"Yes, father."

"Well, that's supper-most in your mind at the present time. That you see, is a play on—Here, you young rascal, what did you throw that book at me for?"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Frog Farming in France.

Among the advantages of frog farming in France is the fact that it enables persons of limited means to utilize marshes and ponds which are too shallow and warm for fish culture and practically useless for any other purpose and produce on a comparatively small area a large amount of valuable food material for which there is always an eager market.

Hunted the Hunter.

"Is it really true?" asked Miss Chelius, "that you're engaged to Mr. Richley?"

"It is," calmly replied Miss Chelius.

"My—exclaimed Miss Chelius. "It was a great catch!"

"I beg your pardon," retorted the other haughtily; "catcher."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Objects of General Interest.

"Those flashy Van Punks have moved. Do you know where they went?"

"As for instance?"

"Why, last night he told an opponent who is lame that he hadn't a leg to stand on, another who squints that he was sorry he couldn't see things as he did, and a man who stammered he urged not to hesitate in expressing an opinion."—Stray Stories.

No Other Candidate for Recorder So Well Equipped as Alex. D. Young

ALEX. D. YOUNG

Alex. D. Young, candidate for the Republican nomination for Recorder of Washington county, is too well known to need formal introduction. His long service in the Recorder's office as deputy has brought him into close touch with the public and the uniformly courteous treatment accorded patrons of the office during his term of service has made him many substantial friends who are eager to rally to his support in the contest to be settled at the June primaries.

In point of qualifications no other candidate is so well equipped. Not another man in Washington county so well understands how to conduct the business of the office and there is no more deserving candidate. While at no time in his career has Mr. Young been identified with factional politics, he has at all times since attaining his majority been a strict adherent to the principles of the party of his choice.

On his record as deputy recorder, established by many years of faithful service and on his record for party regularity Mr. Young solicits the support of Washington county Republicans.

AND MANY OF THEM

It's a good move on your part—your wife will endorse this statement to resolve to place your orders for wall paper and interior decorations generally with us from the first of January, 1910—to the first of January, 1911—longer if we obey your behests to the letter; perhaps go you one better, and satisfy you every way. Our paper patterns and our work await your test.

RECEIVED PATENT LATELY

Elwood H. Stewart, formerly of the United States Engineer Service at Lock No. 4, has received a patent from Washington, D. C., for a compressed air apparatus. This apparatus can be used in the place of steam or gasoline for motive power. Mr. Stewart has worked on the device for twelve years, and since its completion has received several flattering offers for an interest in the patent.

The motor does away with the use of steam, coal and water and is run simply with compressed air. It bids fair to revolutionize the motive power of automobiles.

There was nothing to it but Charleroi in the first game of the double header yesterday afternoon, the strictly high class playing of the Cherub aggregation behind Pitcher Michaels keeping the game from going to the Imps. Not an error was made by either team, and considering everything, the contest was just about as pretty a one, looking at it from the Charleroi standpoint, as has been played here this season.

Heise Elliott had recovered his batting eye and the superior form he showed made the Imps blink. In the fourth inning he started things by leading off with a single, stole second and scored when Knically hit for three bases. The latter scored on Smith's single.

Three runs were added in the seventh. Smith was given a base, Harrell singled and Urban doubled, scoring both. Nally singled, after Michael made an out, and Murphy hit for one base, sending Nally in. The score:

One of Men Thought to Have Been Trying to Escape Police.

The two men charged with the holding up of Harry Tarr, of Pittsburgh, Luther Brown, colored, and Howard Hall, white, were held for court by Justice of the Peace Wilson, last evening. Brown was taken to jail this morning to await a hearing, but Hall is making an effort to secure bail, and doubtless will be successful. It will be remembered that Tarr was robbed of all his money, about $44, after it is alleged, he had been given knock-out drops in a glass of beer.

At the hearing Brown practically acknowledged that he was guilty, and implicated Hall. The latter said he did not receive any money, but did not deny being with Tarr and the colored man. Both plead not guilty.

Seven or eight witnesses were examined, mostly those who had seen the man being led up the alley. What were used for the knockout drops is not known.

Hall was arrested yesterday afternoon at the old wharf house. It was thought that he had been avoiding the police, his actions seeming to indicate this. The bail was placed at $300 each by Justice Wilson. Brown did not have any means of raising the money, but Hall thought he could hire a bondsman, and he was not taken to Washington.

It appears that on April 5, the couple left Monessen and went to Youngstown, where they secured a marriage license. It is stated that the Greek persuaded the girl that this was all they needed to be married. When they arrived in Pittsburgh and were looking for rooms, with another Greek, Steve Moick, they attracted attention and were arrested.

At a hearing yesterday Hunter was committed to jail for five days pending further investigation, and Monic was fined $10 or 10 days to jail, from the active part he took in the deception. The girl's mother was present and wanted the daughter to come home, but the girl, who is but 17 years of age, would not return. She will be sent to the Home of the Good Shepherd, Pittsburgh.

Charleroi's Chance.

By giving John H. Moffitt a practically unanimous vote at the primary election today the electors of Charleroi will not only support a capable and worthy candidate for recorder and honor a progressive and upright citizen of their town, but they will also perform a signal service to the community. The nomination and election of Mr. Moffitt would give Charleroi and the river district representation among the court house officials, a distinction which has thus far been denied the second town of importance in the county, and, except at rare intervals, the entire river district.

The Mail urges all Republican voters to support Mr. Moffitt because he is a home candidate. We all know that he is capable to the highest degree, kind-hearted, loyal to his friends, just and generous. By his election Charleroi would have no more claims for his consideration in office than any other part of the county, but his presence there would insure us a fair deal and justice in other affairs which we have not always gotten. In other words, with Mr. Moffitt in office at the county seat, Charleroi will have a good friend there who will always represent the Magic City equitably.

COMBINATION OF MYSTERY AND ROMANCE

Grieving Parents of Young Man Cannot Learn His Whereabouts.

MARRIED ON WEDNESDAY

Prompted by the reckless driving of automobiles along the crowded streets of that town the Monessen News, under the heading of "Wanted—Mourners," prints the following in its issue of yesterday:

"Wanted—Mourners, for first victims of automobile accident caused by fast running and speeding of automobiles on the streets. No speed limit keep out of the way."

The startling feature of this gashly satire is that it has the terrible ring of truth. The desire to scorn carries with it a general disregard for human life. At least one court in this country has decreed that such a scorching is guilty of murder in the first degree, on the grounds of general premeditation instead of individual premeditation. This should be embodied in the criminal code of every State in the Union. The industrial hazards are too great to permit reckless pleasure seekers to exact an additional tribute.

A New Richmond.

The announcement of Charles A. Bentley of Monongahela that he will be a Republican candidate for the nomination for State Senator for the Washington-Greene district brings a new Richmond into the field. It was known that County Chairman A. H. Anderson would in all likelihood be a candidate, and that John W. Hallam of Washington has aspirations in that direction. Rumors were current that Mr. Bentley had an eye towards the Senatorial toga, but they were not confirmed until today. This announcement, which is made in a Pittsburg paper, insures the prettiest kind of a fight in Washington county a year hence.

While the nomination is generally conceded to go to Washington by reason of the larger vote in this county, a Green county candidate might walk off with the plum by reason of a contest in the larger division of the district. The possibility of such a contingency should be considered before a general fight is inaugurated in Washington.

Color Blindness.

Forty men and four women in a thousand are either wholly unable to perceive certain colors or can recognize them only with difficulty. All attempts to overcome color blindness by educating the color sense have failed. There are three theories of color vision, all of which are based on the workings of the sensitive fibrils of the inner eye.

Odessa's Working Days.

The legal laboring day at Odessa, Russia, is twelve hours, with two hours for rest. Workers less than seventeen years old must go to school for three hours daily. Christians are not required to work Sundays or feast days nor Jews and Mohammedans on their holidays. Those who have to work on Sundays have the next day for rest.

Knew Her Weakness.

Master—John! Servant—Yes, sir. Master—Be sure you tell me when it is 4 o'clock. Servant—Yes, sir. Master—Don't forget it. I promised to meet my wife at 2:30, and she'll be provoked if I'm not there when she arrives.—London Answers.

The motto of charity is also the motto of wisdom—to serve all, but love only one.—Balzac.

Knew What He Wanted.

"Gimme a dime's worth o' dried beer an' sum crackers," said Uncle Josh to the young lady in charge of the ribbon ... a downtown store.

"You have evidently made a mistake in the place," she smilingly replied. "This is a dry goods store."

"Waal, now, I reckon I know that b'gosh," said the old man, "an' ef dried beef an' crackers hadn't dry goods then I'd like to know what in tarnation you'd call 'em?"—Chicago News.

J. C. SUTHERLAND.

Make your vote count sometime today between the hours of 2 and 8 p. m., in nominating a business man for Recorder of Deeds—a man who will give the people a business administration—a man who will not make use of the office of the people for the political advantage of any faction or ring in politics, who will serve the people first, last and ALL THE TIME—who will treat everybody fairly, courteously and be their servant, a true representative.

SUTHERLAND IS THE MAN

Sutherland is the Man

BECAUSE he has gone to the people and submitted his claim to them without consulting any political leader or boss.

Joy of a Yawn.

When life seems more than usually insipid—and such moments do come to even the most hopeful of us—there is a sudden pleasant sympathy in the rawn of the terrier on the rug before the fire. "Ah, you, too, find things a little loring, old fellow," we say to ourselves. A dog raves nobly, making no attempt at disguising it with politely uplifted paw. All animals seem to enjoy a yawn except man. We once saw the late lamented hippopotamus at the zoo lift himself slowly from his murky pond and yawn. It was a great spectacle, tremendous, Homeric. The concentrated boredom of the whole creation seemed expressed in that gigantic gasp. For a few fascinated moments pond, shed, railings, people, all seemed merged in one colossal mouth. It was wonderful. Oh, we thought as we came away, to be able to yawn like that when life becomes too silly!—Pitts. Mail Gazette.

BIRDS AS SCOUTS.

Gypsy's Warning Before the Battle of Sadowa.

During the night, July 2-3, before the battle of Sadowa, division commanded by the archduke, retreating before the Prussian army, had bivouacked near a town in Bohemia facing north. At midnight the archduke, when resting in a peasant's cottage, was awakened by the arrival of a gypsy, who insisted on seeing him personally, having come to report the advance of the enemy.

The archduke, who spoke Romany fluently, asked: "How do you know? Our outposts have not reported any movement?"

"That your highness is because the enemy is still some way off."

"Then how do you know?"

The gypsy, pointing to the dark sky lighted by the moon, observed, "You see those birds flying over the woods from north to south?"

"Yes. What of them?"

"These birds do not fly by night unless disturbed, and the direction of their flight indicates that the enemy is coming this way."

The archduke put his division under arms and re-enforced the outposts, which in two hours' time were heavily attacked. Field Marshal St. Evelyn Wood in Loudon Saturday Gazette.

MAKING A TUNNEL

The Way Railroad Engineers Bore Through a Mountain.

Brings his new line face to face with a mountain too steep to be easily mounted, and then he prepares to pierce it. Tunnels are not pleasant to ride through. They are, moreover, fearfully expensive to construct, and they necessitate a double inspection. But—and the "but" in this case is a very large one—they reduce grades and distances in wholesale fashion, and so in a mountainous country the engineer must be prepared to drive tunnels and the folk who come after him to operate them. The tunnel job is apt to be a separate part of the work. It calls for its own expert talk.

If the tunnel is more than a half or three-quarters of a mile long it will probably be dug from a shaft or shafts as well as from its portals. In this way the work will not only be greatly hastened, but the shafts will continue in use after it is completed as vents for the discharge of engine smoke and gases from the tube.

The ordinary course of such work is by the use of cutting shields proceeding simultaneously from the portals and from the footings of the shafts. These shields are to be likened to steel rings of a circumference only slightly greater than that of the finished tunnel. Men working on different levels of this shield with pick and with drill and dynamite constantly clear a path for it, whereupon it is pressed forward. Tracks follow the cutting shield, and more locomotives steam or electric, are used in removing the material. The use of electricity keeps the tunnel quite clear of gases and makes the safest light for the workers.

In rare cases the rock through which the tunnel is bored is strong enough to support itself. But in most cases the engineers prefer to line the bore with brick, as a rule, and this lining is set in place right to the path of the cutting shield. After long weeks and perhaps months of work the time comes when the different bores meet and the tunnel is a single underground tube from portal to portal.

An African and a Boa Constrictor.

At M'Gata, German East Africa, a native who, like all others belonging to the tribe of the Walunguru, regarded snake flesh as an especial delicacy found a huge boa constrictor lying in the middle of a field. He concluded the discovery to one or two others and arranged with them to kill it during the hours of darkness, so that they might enjoy the delicacy together. Toward midnight the man, armed with a stick, attacked the huge serpent. The boa constrictor, aroused from its apparent torpor, suddenly seized the unhappy negro and slowly crushed him to pulp and then gradually swallowed him.

Tactless.

"When Clodder gets arguing, he loses all tact."

"As for instance?"

"Why, last night he told an opponent who is lame that he hadn't a leg to stand on, another who squints that he was sorry he couldn't see things as he did, and a man who stammered he need not hesitate in expressing an opinion."—Stray Stories.

WALL STREET WAYS.

Methods of a Brilliant Operator Many Years Ago.

One of the most brilliant operations of Wall street in the early history of the last century was made by Nathan Morse, though he was by comparison with some of the gray-haired market veterans only a mere boy being just thirty years of age. The public confidence he enjoyed made it possible for him to realize profits in millions.

Such was the confidence his influence would carry that after he had accumulated stock at his prices he could tell his daily callers that the stock was due to go up, and immediately there would be enough professional and public buying of the stock to send it up, thus enabling Morse to unload at a profit.

An example of Morse's popularity was illustrated in a scene accompanying the opening of subscriptions for stock in a coal mining company organized by him. The day the subscription book was opened people flocked to the office and fought with each other in their efforts to enter and get their names recorded. One man who had subscribed for a large amount of this stock, after getting out from the crowd, came back and, walking up to Mr. Morse, said, "I say, Mr. Morse, was that gold or coal stock I subscribed for?"—Moody's Magazine.

He Got None.

"A pun, my son, is a play upon words. There are three kinds of puns—good ones, which you laugh at; in different ones, which you take no notice of; and bad ones, which make you throw something at the punster."

"Can you make a pun, father?"

"Of course, my son! Now, you're thinking about your supper, aren't you?"

"Yes, father."

"Well, that's supper-most in your mind at the present time. That, you see, is a play on—Here, you young rascal, what did you throw that book at me for?"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Frog Farming in France.

Among the advantages of frog farming in France is the fact that it enables persons of limited means to utilize marshes and ponds which are too shallow and warm for fish culture and practically useless for any other purpose and produce on a comparatively small area a large amount of valuable food material for which there is always an eager market.

Hunted the Hunter.

"Is it really true," asked Miss Chelius, "that you're engaged to Mr. Richley?"

"It is," calmly replied Miss Bute.

"My," exclaimed Miss Chelius, "he was a great catch!"

"I beg your pardon," retorted the other haughtily; "catcher."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Objects of General Interest.

"Those nasty Van Tuunks have moved. Do you know where they went?"

"That's the very thing their unhappy landlord asked me."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The poet's verse slides into the current of our blood. We read it when young, we remember it when old. Smiles.

ALEX. D. YOUNG

Alex. D. Young, candidate for the Republican nomination for Recorder of Washington county, is too well known to need formal introduction. His long service in the Recorder's office as deputy has brought him into close touch with the public and the uniformly courteous treatment accorded citizens of the office during his term of service has made him many substantial friends who are ready to rally to his support.

In point of qualifications no other candidate is so well equipped. Not another man in Washington county is so well understood how to conduct the business of the office and there is no more deserving candidate. While at no time in his career has Mr. Young been identified with sectional politics, he has, at all times since taking up his majority, been a strong adherent to the principles of the party of his choice.

On his record as deputy recorder, established over many years of faithful service and on his record for party regularity Mr. Young solicits the support of Washington county Republicans.

NEWELL'S FIRST CHURCH WILL BE DEDICATED SUNDAY

Services Will be Held Morning, Afternoon and Evening.

LOCAL MAN WILL ASSIST

Tomorrow will take place the dedication of the first church for the town of Newell, across the river from California. The edifice was built by the M. E. congregation of that place, the cost being about $9,000. It is built of brick, and will stand as a memorial to the earnest efforts put forth by the church people of that place.

Captain O'Hagan told his men to shift the cargo, but barrels and cases were hurtling this way and that, and one of them, driving the captain back against the wall, crushed his leg so severely that he had to be carried to the lifeboat.

For a brief space there was no captain. Then Paterson took command.

At a critical moment his strong personality and calm assurance saved
the crew from panic. Three boats filled with sailors from the British King were launched in safety, while the new commander stood in silence on the bridge. Lower and lower sank the ill starred ship, and as she heaved and took her final plunge Paterson blew a farewell blast upon his whistle to the fast departing crew.

The dedication proper will be in the evening. At this time Rev. C. L. E.

Cartwright of Allegheny will speak. In the afternoon a platform meeting will be held in which several ministers of the vicinity will speak. Rev. H.

Giles will make the address at the morning meeting.

Quite different, but no less heroic, was the manner in which Captain Griffith of the Atlantic Transport line steamship Mohegan faced death. Though it was scarcely darker than twilight, he had run his vessel on the rocks near the Needles in October, 1898, and it was rapidly sinking. The last glimpse of Captain Griffith showed him standing on the bridge ordering the boats to be lowered in order to save his crew.
Heroic in death, too, was the captain of the oil ship Loddona, which several years ago was burned at sea. Before thinking of his own safety he saw every man of his crew clear of the doomed vessel, and then it was too late. Foot by foot he was driven forward by the flames till at last he hung over the bow. A tramp steamship came up,
but the waters were too rough for the lowering of the boats. Finally the flames compelled him to loosen his hold, and while his ship burned fiercely on he was dashed into the angry
seas beneath.

But still more dramatic was the death of Captain Deloncle of the French liner La Bourgogne, sunk in the summer of 1898. As he stood one night upon the bridge a tall bark suddenly loomed out of the darkness and, dealing La Bourgogne a fatal blow, steamed hurriedly away. The men on board went frantic. In a scramble for safety firemen and crew lost their wits, and people ran up and down the deck in wild despair.

Deloncle stood calm amid the tu-muit. Suddenly he abandoned himself to the dramatic horror of the scene and, seizing the whale rope, sent into the skies one long, wild, wailing groan.

Perhaps the noblest death of all was that of Captain Craven of the monitor Tecumseh at the attack in August 1864, on Mobile. The ship was fast sinking. There was not a moment to be lost. At the foot of the ladder leading to the manhole above, the turret of safety, two men met. Captain Craven and his pilot. There would be time for but one to mount. The captain knew it; the pilot knew it. But there was no hesitation. With a smile Captain Craven stepped to one side.

"After you, pilot," he said.

The man sprang up the ladder, and his life was saved, but the brave captain was swept under and carried to destruction by the cruel sea—London

HEROES OF THE DEEP

Brave Captains Who Have Perished With Their Ships.

A STERN RULE OF THE SEA.

"The Captain of the Vessel Shall Be the Last to Leave," and From This Mandate No Captain Is Exempt.
Heroism In Face of Certain Death.

"The captain of the vessel shall be the last to leave."

This heroic sentiment has been exemplified time and again by the brave men who go down to the sea in ships, and to their everlasting honor there is no attempt to desire to shirk the fearful duty and responsibility. So it was that Captain Sealby of the ill fated Republic refused to leave his ship till every man, woman, child and member of his crew had been saved.

"The last to leave." It is the law, universally acknowledged at sea by officers and men alike as the basis of self respect and honor. From it no captain is exempt.

One of the bravest of these heroes was Chief Officer Paterson of the British King. One day some time ago, he sailed from New York under

Captain O'Hagan. Great storms impeded the passage of the ship, and so stupendous was the violence of the waves that they stove in the bow plates, and before the leakage was discovered tons of water rushed into the hold.

Captain O'Hagan told his men to shift the cargo, but barrels and cases
were hurtling this way and that, and
one of them, driving the captain back
against the wall, crushed his leg so
severely that he had to be carried to
the lifeboat.

For a brief space there was no captain. Then Paterson took command.

At a critical moment his strong personality and calm assurance saved
the crew from panic. Three boats
filled with sailors from the British King were launched in safety, while
the new commander stood in silence on the bridge ordering the boats

to be lowered in order to save his crew.

Heroic in death, too, was the captain of the oil ship Loddona, which several years ago was burned at sea. Before

thinking of his own safety he saw every

man of his crew clear of the doomed
vessel, and then it was too late. Foot by foot he was driven forward
by the flames till at last he hung over
the bow. A tramp steamship came up,
but the waters were too rough for the lowering of the boats. Finally the flames compelled him to loosen his
hold, and while his ship burned fiercely on he was dashed into the angry
seas beneath.

Buying Fodder For the Newlyweds.

The newly married couple had just moved into their new home. On the morning after their arrival a baker called to solicit their trade. He found the young wife in the kitchen. After explaining that his wagon delivered once a day the baker asked, "And may I have your trade, madam?"

"Yes," she replied timidly; "we will give you a trial."

"And about how much bread will you want each day?"

"Well, I don't know exactly. You see, there are only two of us." Then doubtfully. "Would five loaves be enough, do you think?"—Judge.
